Homeownership Specialist Erickson shared a story of a family where a head of household was a National Guard Member and did not receive a salary for a period of time. This made the family default on their mortgage. Homeownership Specialist Erickson worked with this family on budgeting and was able to work with the lender on a workout package. During this time, the family worked hard on their budget and were able to save money, and had a significant amount of money saved when they began making mortgage payments again. Homeownership Specialist Erickson and Housing Director Siegert answered questions. Homeownership Specialist Erickson stated that families have more options the earlier they start working with a homeownership counselor. Osman and a family member will receive flight and accommodations to attend the PHADA award ceremony in June in Florida. Osman will also be eligible for the NARHO regional scholarship and the CDA's own scholarship program.
